New York Stock Market

New York, June 8.—Movements of stocks were governed largely to-day by influences apart from the usual stock market routine, chief among which were the government's crop report and the monthly statement of the copper producers. High expectations were held of builtsh exhibitions in both cases, and in neither instances were these expectations entirely fulfilled. The market, which had been decidedly strong early in the day, became heavy upon publication of the reports, and closed with material losses among the active stocks.

The deterioration of the condition of closed with material losses among the active stocks.

The deterioration of the condition of winter wheat, from 86.1 a month ago to 80.4, placed the figures below the ten-year average, which in Wall Street was regarded as unfavorable news, although it was recognized that a decline during the month of May was normal, and that weather conditions last month plainly forshadowed a setback. This report served to blight the hopes of optimistic traders, who had bought stocks in the belief that the showing would be a more bullish one. It was pointed out, however, that the report reflected the condition on June 1, and that conditions since that time had been in many ways more favorable for the growing crops. The unusually good report on spring wheat counteracted to some degree the effect of the winter wheat exhibit, and the statement as a whole did not materially after conservative expectations of a prosperous year. Bear traders, however, seized upon it as an opportunity for a raid, and in their efforts were assisted by disappointed buils. The selling during the last half hour of trading, following publication of the report, was the heaviest of the day, and prices fell off to the lowest point of the session.

Many reports of pronounced improvement in the copper trade had led to such confident expectations of a favorable showing in the producers' monthly statement that some disappointment was shown when an increase of 440,000 pounds in stocks on hand was reported. Amalgamated Copper railled for a brief interval, but latter fell away in common with other metal stocks. The encouraging feature of the report was an increase of 440,000 pounds in domestic consumption. Despite reports of a lively demand from abroad, however, foreign consumption was slightly below April, and production increased $557,000 pounds.

Trading on the Stock Exchange was active, with considerable confusion of sentiment and irregularity in prices The deterioration of the condition of

To Our Depositors

You have made it possible for the management of this Company to increase its deposits from $123,000.00 to more than one million dollars in 18 months, and we wish you to know that one of our cardinal principles is to carry a large reserve. For example, we have maintained for many months a cash reserve of more than three times as much as the law requires.

Will our Depositors still further lend us their cooperation by suggesting to some friend to open an account with us?

It would be much appreciated!
